HOUSE IN DISARRAY OVER DEEPLY FLAWED BELL MONOPOLY BROADBAND BILL

Today, Congressman John Conyers, Jr. Ranking Member of the House Judiciary Committee issued the following statement in reaction to today's tumultuous debate on the Tauzin-Dingell broadband bill:

“The startling disarray in the house today shows why their bill is deeply flawed and dead on arrival in the Senate.

When the Bell monopolies game the rules of the House like they have gamed the rules of broadband competition, the result is the same; garbage in and garbage out.”
